Supplementary Data of Scheduled Rides

*Note: no 1974 October  known to have ever existed.

At the discretion of Eric Swenson, Rides Chairman of 1974 no rides were intended to be scheduled in October till next spring. His decision may have been influenced by the Board he served on. Likewise is November 73. However the marked routes of Regular Rides served their purpose during past off-season periods very well.

Apart from what it cost me in equipment, phone bills, mail, and stationary: my time alone would be worth over $4,000 have I spent this much time at my usual occupation. Hence the value of your Rides Chairman.

The Prez Sez...

At the Aug. meeting, we were visited by Max Fisher - our man in Florida. Max rides almost everyday, but complains that the hills are not steep enough. It was nice to see an old riding buddy and to have him come to our meeting again.

Our dinner at Rinaldo's last month proceeded very efficiently and happily for all concerned. By ordering our dinners as soon as we can in, and by having our tickets exposed on the dining tables so that our waitresses, Helga and Helen, could see who ordered what, the service proceeded smoothly and with no shouting for attention. Everybody was happy.

OUR LAST WEEKEND TRIP FOR THE SEASON, OCT. 22-23

After our discussion of rides, with particular attention to Chuck Loper's one-man expedition out to the Lambertville - New Hope area north of Trenton, he was asked to run the trip again on Oct. 22-23. Briefly, the participants have to be at Penn Station between 7 and 7:30AM to buy tickets to Trenton and to get their bikes checked on the 8AM AMTRAK train which stops at Trenton one hour later. Then, a full day of cycling in the rural countryside north of Trenton, staying over at the Lambertville House. Sunday they cycle back on well-paved but slightly used secondary roads for the most part, re-entering Manhattan via the Goethals Br. and the Staten Island ferry - a distance of 65 miles or so. Cost of train fare, lodging, and meals will be $25 - $30. So, pump up your tires, and get in touch with Chuck Loper at 737-8570 for reservations and further details.

OUR LAST A,B,C, CLUB RIDE OF THE SEASON, OCT. 30

We will have another club ride (maybe this one won't be rained out) on Sun. Oct. 30. It will be the last such ride of the year - the days are getting shorter, daylight saving time will end (that very weekend, I believe!), and the cold winds can be expected from then on thus making longer trips not so feasible.

NOMINATIONS FOR 1978 OFFICERS

Our nominations for next year's "big wheels" resulted in an exciting slate of nominees - mixture of both seasoned and new members.

President.........Bill Cooper (a former Vice-President)
V.P. - Programs.....Bob Herzfelder (former president, current V.P.)
V.P. - Rides........Jim Rex (current Rides Chairman)
Treasurer...........Bob Perl, Leona Hollander (Leona has since declined in favor of Bob.)
Secretary............Sarah Flower
Editor..............Deborah Wheaton
Circulation Mgr.....Mel Shleifer (present Circulation Mgr.)

The above offices are so far "no contest" situations. But the Member-at-Large office is attracting a lot of candidates. The nominees so far are:

Helen Bashkin Phil Giles Charlie Oriez
Les Bercow Chuck Loper Harry Rutten

Charlie has since declined. He will be running a political campaign next year and will not have time for the office. Nominations are still open.
As for me, altho I was nominated for President, I declined because I want to devote my time specifically to the development of more rides for those without cars and especially the developmental series which encourages relatively new riders to advance gradually thru the season from the beginners' 25 miles in 3 hours on up to a Century in Sept. I will remain active on the Board in the office of Past. Pres.

Unfortunately, I can already spot a major conflict coming up between myself and the Presidential nominee, Bill Cooper, and I think you should be aware of it in advance. As you know, I advocate, persuade, and all but twist arms off in favor of low gears in order both to avoid knee damage and to climb hills more easily. Bill Cooper, on the other hand, rides high gears at lower rpm and manages quite admirably. Our positions are clear, and the "battle lines" for your minds and knees are being drawn. (Hopefully, this will be our biggest source of "conflict" in the club this next year.)

C'mon down to the next meeting, bid for some used bicycle goodies, and throw the helmet of your favorite candidate into the political ring. And give some thought to our Dec. Annual Meeting and Installation Party — ideas, volunteer work, etc.

FROM THE VEEP'S DESK

Where does the time go? Here we are already at the end of the summer season. In two weeks many of our NYC members will be paying a return visit to Tannanah Lake Shore Lodge for SCOR '77. By the time this goes to press these two weeks and SCOR itself will be history.

Talking of Tannanah Lake Shore Lodge, we had twenty-eight members participating in the weekend activities. Irv told you quite a bit about it in his column; however I would like to add a few comments concerning the way the hotel people treated us. The meals were very good, and transportation was provided to take people up the hill. They really went all out to see that we had a good time. To top it off there was a barbecue at the lake's edge on Monday, Labor Day with spare ribs, chicken, hot dogs, baked beans, salad, watermelon and cake and whiskey sours for those who liked a little nip or two. Those of you who didn't go this year have something to look forward to next year.

The next club meeting will be on Tuesday, October 18th at Rinaldo's, and besides the nominations of officers for the coming year there will be a "White Elephant auction. If you have any items in good condition that you feel may be of interest to a bunch of cyclists please get in touch with me. Since time is limited we must limit the number of participants and the time allotted to each -- so, it is "first come first served". The deadline is October 14th. Anyone contacting me after that date will have to hold his items until the next auction sometime in the future.

In November if the new election procedure goes through, we will have the election of officers for 1978. Also on the program will be a questions and answers program concerning aspects of winter cycling, clothing, type of rides etc.

In closing let me remind you to put your thinking caps on and start thinking about whom you would like to have representing you in office or on the board of directors for next year. Your last chance for nominations will be at the October meeting.

There is plenty of good cycling weather ahead so don't let those wheels get rusty. Better yet, don't let yourselves get rusty. Get out and ride.

Bob Herzfelder

EDITOR'S NOTE

The referenda results on the other page show that only a very small minority cast votes, despite the fact that among the propositions being voted on were some major reorganizations of the dues structure. I could never understand why some people are so willing to let other people make up their minds for them. I hope it won't be repeated in the Officers' elections, because who is chosen then will set the style of the entire club in the year to come. They will be OUR leaders, they should be chosen by ALL of us.
SEWED UP IN KNOTS
by Hugh Rubin

The following article is a blow(out) by blow(out) description of my battle with the tubular tire, and the subsequent reasons for changing to clinchers. Upon the advice of the salesman at the bicycle shop, I "stuck with tubulars" for about my first 1200 miles.

My first experience occurred in Central Park - the cause of the flat still unknown. I found the gluing on of the spare a simple affair and was thrilled until I brought the punctured tire to the shop to be repaired. There I discovered that a price of $4 and a two day wait was the cost of that experience.

I thought that the Central Park flat was a freak experience, but decided to buy an extra tire anyway for $11.90 - a Wolber or Hutchinson, I don't remember which. Off I went on a 100 mile trip to Asbury Park. Twice I was forced to travel on the shoulders - once on the way there and once on the way back. Both times I got flats. The first punctured tire rolled right off the rim and ended tangled in the cluster. Fortunately, I was able to come to a gradual stop without breaking my neck or bending the rim. Neither flat could be repaired. The one that got caught in the cluster had too many holes in it, and the other one had a large hole close to the valve.

I was next told to buy a special "puncture resistant tire. I bought two Clementes, as spares, and rode off to Washington, DC. Luckily, I had only one flat tire on the trip. However, by this time I was in such a state of shock that every time I heard an unidentified sound within ten feet of me, I was convinced that my first spare had blown and that I would have to use my last spare. The cost of the two Clementes was $30.

"Do your own sew-ups," the experts told me. So, I bought a patch kit and decided to try my luck. I discovered that since you can only work with four or five inches of tube, it's much more difficult to get the patch to hold. (Incidentally, I attempted to patch my Clemente in a motel room on the way to DC. The tube tore in half, in my hand, as I was pulling it out.) After finally getting the patch to hold, I was careful to sew the casing in the original holes. I began testing my first experiment in "do your own sew-ups" by blowing it up. Snap! Crackle! Pop! Maybe I left a microscopic opening when I sewed it up!

The last straw was when I discovered that my front tire (where, for some reason, I never got a flat) had shifted on the rim and the cord was almost totally destroyed.

Incidentally, not included in the above litany of lamentations are two more incidents: The time I got a flat in the middle of a downpour - I still have some of the glue on my cluster. And the time my friend was taking the bike out of his car and punctured the tire on something - beyond repair.

At any rate, I now saw myself left with the choice of throwing good money after bad by buying new tubulars, or rather spending forty dollars on new rims and buying clinchers for them. I bought 27x1 1/8 Schwinn Super Record tires for a 700c rim. I am told that the weight difference is negligible. In any case, it is more likely that a tube will puncture than that a tire will blow. This means that I can at least make road repairs or carry an extra tube, or both. Even allowing for better luck than I had (could you have worse?), what happens if you start out with two spares, and pick up three flats? Are you going to find the puncture in a tubular and sew it up on the road?

I know some people will tell me that my tires were not expensive enough. But $30 per tire seems like a lot of money for rubber. Furthermore, I wonder if my results would have been better. My advice to anyone buying a new bike - get clinchers; if you're a strong rider, I doubt that they'll weigh you down. If you're a weak rider, it won't matter.

As a post-script, on Sept. 11 I went on the AYH ride to Bear Mountain with my new clinchers. A total of 120 miles was covered from my house, including city streets, without mishap. This almost establishes some sort of record for me!
From time to time our Bulletin has carried the name of L.A.W. in conjunction with a patch ride, a big rally, or an important piece of legislation. The League is the national organization of bicyclists to which many members of NYCC belong, and to which the NYCC is affiliated. If you are not already a member of L.A.W., read on to find out why you, too, should join in its efforts to promote the welfare of the bicycling community.

With the rapid rise in usage, bicycles have come under increasing attention by all levels of government. The solutions proposed to problems have ranged from an extensive network of off-road bikeways, to registration of bikes and riders, to mandating reflective tires, to bicycle education in the schools, and everything in between. A number of laws have already been passed, some of which are unfavorable to our interests. What is the implication of all this governmental activity on you, the individual cyclist?

Very simply, in the years to come there will be more and more regulation of bikes, the equipment you will be able to buy for them, and the ways in which you will be able to use them. We can let the politicians and bureaucrats, mostly non-cyclists, do us all kinds of regulatory "favors," or we can work to obtain the kinds of results which will enhance our cycling. This is where the L.A.W. comes in.

As a broad-based national organization, L.A.W. is much more effective on legislative and regulatory matters than one individual or club can be. Here are some examples of how the L.A.W. has gone to bat for us in recent months:

- It succeeded in getting the CAB to reverse a ruling which would have substantially increased the cost of taking a bike on overseas flights. When the rulings were devised, bikes were forgotten. The L.A.W. reminded them — loudly.

- A law was passed in New York State last year which would have required bikes to use the shoulder of a road, if one existed, regardless of its condition. Thru the efforts of the State L.A.W. Legislative Coordinator, Don Birn, an amendment was passed which gave us the option of using either the road or the shoulder. This was a major victory for those who use the bicycle as more than just an around-the-block toy.

- The National Committee on Uniform Traffic Laws and Ordinances (NCUTLO), a quasi-governmental body, meets again next spring to formulate traffic laws which are then used by all the states as models for their own vehicle and traffic codes. L.A.W. has a representative on this important committee. Obviously, the more members there are in L.A.W., the greater is the clout of the L.A.W. rep.

- L.A.W. representatives have testified at congressional committee hearings on the clean air amendment, the rails-to-trails bill, the bicycle study amendment to the energy bill, and other small but significant pieces of legislation. Altho the League may not always win its position, it is building a reputation as a responsible and knowledgeable voice of cyclists. Think, tremblingly, what the results might be if the L.A.W. weren't there to speak for us.

The legislative scene may be dull and uninteresting to you, but that is where the decisions are made which will affect us all. The very least we can do to protect our self-interest is to support the efforts of those who are actively working for a better cycling environment for us all.

The League's dues are going up as of Nov. 1, 1977. But by means of the application form on the other side, you can get a membership at the lower rates which are still in effect. Clip the form, attach your check, and join the NYCC and its officers in supporting the League which speaks in an ever more effective voice for our interests. Do it now with this attractive "last minute" offer.
