SUNDAY 6 Apr.

NORTH HUDSON PARK REVISITED  C-, 25 miles, Ldr: "Upright" Irv  LO2-7298

This was the first trip that Irv led for the club about 10 years ago - it did not require a car to get to the starting point. So gather up your matzohs and Easter goodies for a picnic in the park, and relive that historic trek westward across the Hudson River to NJ country. The ride itself is quite tame, no significant hills. The scenery is genteel urban and suburban. Bring lunch, but there may be some supermarkets open near the park. Return by 3 PM. NYCC Ride.

Oops! Meet 9 AM at Central Park Boathouse, 9:30 at Grant's Tomb, or 9:45 at the G.W. Bus Terminal (Fl. Washington Ave. & 178 St.) Leave Terminal at 10:00.

SUNDAY 13 Apr.

HENRY HUDSON DRIVE AND LUNCH IN A GARAGE  B-, 45 miles  Ldr: "Upright" Irv

Meet 8:30 AM at Central Pk. Boathouse, 9:00 at Grant's Tomb, 9:15 at G.W. Bus Term.

Experience the burgeoning spring along the Henry Hudson Drive where William Yao was discovered moseying along in 1978. WARNING: There are some long steep hills as the price for your pleasures, so you must have low gears - very low 30s, or less. At Piermont we dine with the ghosts of departed trucks on truckdrivers' fare. Return to the G.W. Bridge by 3:30 PM via there relatively carfree roads of the southeast passage with its moderate (as opposed to strenuous) climbs. NYCC Ride

SPRING SAFARI.  25 miles, C ride. Ldrs: Lorraine Gewirtz & Sherman Cohen
Meet 9 AM, 33 St. & Sixth Ave. (Gimbels). Visit Weehauken, site of the Hamilton/Burr duel, Liberty Park for a backyard view of our Statue. Cycle over the world's longest steel-arch bridge to Staten Is. for a visit to the Institute of Arts & Sciences where art and Indian archeology meld. Ferry back to see where Hamilton is buried. Bring lock, inner tube, lunch, 30¢ for PATH. If weather is uncertain, confirm the night before - 332-1990.

SUNDAY 20 Apr.

FIVE BORO BIKE TOUR ORIENTATION RIDE FOR MARSHALS. (See A rides listing for info.)

FIFTH ANNUAL CHERRY BLOSSOM RIDE  C+, 35-45 miles  Ldr: "Upright" Irv  LO2-7298

Meet 9 AM at Columbus Circle in front of the Coliseum (Broadway & 60 St.). We may take PATH or go via G.W. Bridge if PATH not running. Head for Belleville Cherry Grove for a spectacular display of the tender blossoms. Bring lunch and drink - there is a store somewhere outside the park, too. We will all ride back to the G.W. Bridge by 4 PM. "The steep hills near the end of the ride can be managed with your 24" gear (2 feet, get it?). NYCC ride

SATUR. 26 Apr.

JAMAICA BAY WILDLIFE REFUGE RIDE  D, 20 miles. Ldr: Ken Abramson
Meet 9:00 AM at Cunningham Pk. (Queens) parking lot on Union Turnpike between Francis Lewis Blvd. & 193 St. for an easy ride to NYC's Gateway National Recreation Area. SUNDAY 27 Apr.

BIKERS' SWEEP-UP-GLASS DAY. Ldr: "Upswept" Irv
Meet 10:00 AM at the G.W. Bridge Bus Terminal. Join the bikers from all clubs in cleaning up broken glass on popular bike routes. NYCC has taken on the G.W. Bridge ramps. We're trying to get the cooperation of the Bridge Authorities on this - to lend brooms, etc. After the clean-up, we'll go riding in NJ, about 30 miles of relatively easy riding. Please call Irv (LO2-7298) anytime before this great effort to let him know of your cooperation. He can't do it alone, and he has to let the Bridge people know much equipment to provide. Join in!

joining us at the hostel and the rides. C'mon out for good riding. (If you can offer rides, please let me know, I need one myself.)

L.A.W. CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION - KINGSTON, RI

The AYH is providing bus transportation for you and your bike to the event. Check with them at 431-7100. Steve Bauman is planning to bike both ways - one day up, one day back. David Miller has been planning to bike two days each way. Check with them if their madness appeals to you. (Amtrak goes to Kingston, but they do not drop off any baggage at Kingston. Amtrak is only interested in high volume business, they can't bother with service to the public as a primary consideration.) Can you offer a ride? Let me know.

GEAR '80

This event, a great rally, will be held over the July 4 weekend. Several members are planning to ride up, or back, or both. Marsha Taggart and John Hoffman, Jr. are planning to ride up. John Hoffman and I are planning to ride back. Interested? Call.

TIME TRIALS

The Time Trials, so dear to my quantifying heart, have been set aside for the time being. We'll have to determine our riding capabilities by riding with well-paced groups and see how we hold up. Many cyclists get a distinct pleasure from riding with a well matched pack which moves as a body, uniformly and smoothly. If it has been your style to straggle and dawdle behind the pack while you admire the scenery, give some thought to developing an alternative style for some of your rides. You may find that you, too, ENJOY RIDING ALONG WITH A WELL DISCIPLINED GROUP. You will also be making your fellow RIDERS HAPPY BY BEING RIGHT THERE WITH THEM RATHER THAN BACK SOMEWHERE, ALMOST, OR COMPLETELY OUT OF SIGHT. AND LISTEN, LOW GEARS ARE VERY HELPFUL ON THE HILLS; THEY PREVENT YOU FROM DUMPING ALL YOUR ENERGY ON THE OCCASIONAL TAXING HILL WHICH YOU ARE BOUND TO RUN ACROSS IN THIS AREA. LOWER YOUR GEARS AND ENJOY CAREFREE RIDING. IF NECESSARY, THROW YOUR CAMPY CRANKSET AWAY AND RIDE ANYWHERE, NOT JUST ON LEVEL GROUND.

Interested in making some changes? I can send you copies of former articles of mine on the subject to get you thinking. Send me a stamped self-addressed envelope to get yourself started on happier cycling in the hills. I. Weisman 70 Marble Hill Av. Bx 10463.

GEAR FLASH! Kelida, my travel agent, is arranging special handling for you and your bike, from LaGuardia. Fare: $84 rd. trp. $12 for bike each way. Call her at 587-7186.

ANNOUNCING THE

EFFECTIVE CYCLING COURSE

by BILL HOFFMAN, Instructor

WHAT IS EFFECTIVE CYCLING?
This is the League of American Wheelmen-sponsored course to teach present and would-be cyclists the craft of cycling—the basic ability to consistently use a bicycle with confidence and competence for whatever purpose, under all conditions of climate, terrain, highway, and traffic.

WHAT DOES IT INCLUDE?
1. Selecting and fitting a bicycle to your needs. Learning how to maintain it. Understanding the mechanical principles of its design and operation.
2. Learning proper posture and pedaling technique for maximum efficiency. Learning the theory of physical conditioning for speed and endurance. Learning proper bike handling, both for normal conditions and for emergency situations.
3. Learning the driving skills that make cycling easier, safer, and more fun. Analyzing the basic principles of traffic law and highway design and how they affect cycling. Knowing how to adapt to all situations of traffic, highway, terrain, and weather.
4. Increasing your frequency and enjoyment of club riding, touring, utility cycling, time trialing, and if you so desire, racing.
The course consists of approximately 1/3 lecture and demonstration with hands-on practice, and 2/3 on-the-road training and practice.

WHEN CAN YOU TAKE THE COURSE?
The course begins Saturday, April 12, and meets Saturday mornings for 3 hours for 10 weeks, except for the last session which includes an all-day ride. Classes will not be held on holidays or when major biking events are scheduled, such as the L.A.W. Centennial Celebration on Memorial Day weekend.

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR...
I have been authorized by the L.A.W. Effective Cycling Committee to offer the course, having successfully completed the course itself and a rigorous instructors' qualifying exam that included a road test and a 3-hour written exam covering the course content and teaching techniques. Forgive me for bragging, but I am considered one of the most experienced expert cyclists in the club, having ridden over 6,000 miles a year for the past 8 years, having led many rides for this and other clubs, having planned and led a one-week 25-person tour in addition to thousands of miles of solo touring in 27 states and 5 countries, having served as L.A.W. Regional VP for the past 6 years, in addition to holding office in other clubs and biking organizations.

WHERE DOES THE COURSE MEET?
I am planning to conduct the course at my house in New Rochelle. If enough people in the same area enroll, I am willing to come to them to teach, provided a suitable location for the indoor work can be found at little or no cost. Have bike, will travel. However, if this occurs I will have to add a surcharge to the fee to cover my additional travel time, the cost of the meeting room, if any, and the advance scouting of suitable routes in the new area. The amount of the surcharge will depend upon the location.

WHAT DOES IT COST?
The course will cost $40 for L.A.W. members and $50 for non-members. Non-members who join while enrolled in the class will have the extra $10 applied toward the dues (information about L.A.W. and application forms will be available throughout the course). There will be a 15% discount for 2 members of the same family enrolling in the same class, and a 25% discount for 3 or more persons from the same family in the same class. Minimum age: 12. Payment is to be made in full at the time of enrollment, and a full refund will be made up to and including the second session. After that, no refunds. Checks or money orders should be made payable to William N. Hoffman, 53 Claire Ave., New Rochelle, N.Y. 10804.

HOW LARGE WILL THE CLASS BE?
Minimum of 10, maximum of 15. Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis. If fewer than 10 people register, all fees will be refunded, and these registrants will be put on a preferred list for the next class. If more than 15 people register, registrants number 16 and up will be put on a waiting list, and if no vacancies occur, they will be put on the preferred list after numbers 1 through 9 for the next class (of course this situation won't happen with the first class, but could happen in subsequent classes). This may seem confusing, but I think it's fair.

PREREQUISITES.
Each student must have his/her own multi-gearied, hand-braked bicycle, and be capable of balancing and steering smoothly at moderate speed. Some prior cycling experience is helpful but not mandatory. A 10-speed bike is recommended, but students may use a 3- or 5-speed bike. Dropped handlebars, a smooth saddle, and metal-treaded pedals are suggested. The textbook for the course (yes, there will be homework!) is Effective Cycling by John Forester. Copies can be obtained from me at or before the start of the class, at no advance in price, or directly from Forester at Custom Cycle Fittings, 782 Allen Ct., Palo Alto, Cal. 94303. Price: $8 postpaid. Each student must have his/her own copy.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST TAKING EFFECTIVE CYCLING REFUTED.
1. "I already know how to ride—been doing it for years." Do you know?? You may not know that you don't know. Do you ride only under optimum conditions, or have you just been lucky that you've never had an accident? For instance, do you know what to do if an oncoming car turns left in front of you? How do you deal with a right-turn-only lane if you want to go straight? Or why commuting cyclists prefer busy main roads to lightly trafficked side streets? If you can't answer these questions now, you will after you've taken the course.
2. "I can learn all that stuff on my own by reading the book." I doubt it. If you wanted to learn to swim, would you read a book or take swimming lessons? True, you might learn the concepts by reading the book, but you won't know if you can do the techniques properly without supervised practice.
3. "The price is too high." The cost of the course for a non-L.A.W. member is only $1.50 per hour. When was the last time you hired any other kind of expert (doctor, plumber, lawyer, piano teacher) for $1.50 an hour? And how much did you spend on your bike or equipment for it? Nuff said.
4. "Who needs Effective Cycling?" Most probably you do if this is your argument. You can always pay someone to fix your bike, but nobody else can learn for you the skills you need to stay alive on your bike.

In a conversation Mel Shleifer revealed to Jim Rex concerning his January Issue "diatribe", that his Board seniority views must stem from some antiquated Austro-Hungarian Hapsburg dominated dogma. Details of this response were not pried on either side, as the subject was dropped by the pursuit of loftier interests at the bike show.

Jim Rex noted on the other hand, that the bicycle toy syndrome mental-ity of our country not only exists, but inseparably promoted as such by the organizers of the retailing industry. Or they would have no reason to put on the New York Colisseum bill board at the entrance (year after year), "bicycle and toy exhibit". Biggest innovations were made in pedals and ad-justable toe clips. Rear derailleurs have caught on in performance to 34 rear cluster and triple chainwheels, but one Japanese firm couldn't leave it at that. They came out with 38 teeth version. Jim Rex still keeps look-in for a Champion du Monde Super Leggere Seta coated tire iron in vain, con-soling in the knowledge that smaller crowsbars still work. They may even function with such rear cluster sizes too.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Feb, 29, 1980

Dear Jim,

Hope all is well with you, and I enjoy your letters in the bul-letin, in spite of their length. Would you please put this note as follows in the next bulletin.

Concerning the letter by John Lorenz in the March bulletin, I am left wondering who these 'High Priests' of cycling are that should be 'disavowed'. As for the the 'High Priest' he disavow, I predict that John Forester will become a devise and controversial figure in the L.A.V.

Think back to the unity of support our former leader Jim Kehew was able to elicit from the membership - and that was during trying times. I suppose it comes down to a matter of personality - some have winning ways, and some do not.

As for pressure on cyclists, I have yet to meet a novice cyclist who did not aspire to become at least a 'B' rider.

Joe Wigodner

As for the length of Jim's letters: he finds it hard to make a long story short, sometimes he spends more time to give an account of a Century ride than it takes him to ride it. For the remainder, we will have to give John Lorenz the first opportunity of response, and hope he will.

Ian Mibel world reknown long distance touring cyclist was visiting our area, contacting a Long Island resident professor Thrawbridge for writing a book about his exploits. His schedule didn't allow to make him our guest of honor at the March club meeting, sad as it may be for some of us.

Vera and John Krausz also hard-work-putting a book of their own to-gether in a lot better English version than this piece of information. Jim Rex flunked his interview with them when he got concious of the micro-phone used for taping. He's nowhere the celebrity some people would think. In fact as far as Chris Mailing is concerned, he's all washed up. Meanwhile Ken Abramson thinks he also has comitted political suicide picking on the establishment as far as NYCC concerned.
THE DRIVE TO RIDE

It must have been March or earlier when the thought finally sunk in; I was not going to tour this summer. With this realization, a slowly conscious feeling of depression enveloped me. The realistic side of my mind convinced me that I could not afford a long tour this summer as an education course had to be completed for my certification requirements. This meant that there would be no six or seven weeks in the northwest to complete a tour that had begun last summer. There were a hundred valid reasons why I could not take a tour this year but valid reasons did not remove overwhelming feeling of disappointment which engulfed me at the thought of the dreary weeks ahead.

March moved into April and still I made no serious attempt to get myself in shape for a long tour. There was no reason, after all, circumstances decreed that my summer be spent in the Bronx completing course work and doing all the things I had never done before in this my adopted city. Among the options open to me were those of riding with the New York Cycle Club, something which I rarely had the time for in the past, and getting to establish some solid relationships with people in New York City. In short I could become part of New York.

Then the school year ended, not my course work, but my ten months in front of my classes and with its termination came a gnawing desire to ride. I HAD TO RIDE. Somehow, somewhere, I had to tour. Not just club rides although they are certainly pleasant, but to load up my bicycle and take off. There was no planned route and my only certainty was the final destination at which I planned to arrive.

This would not be like last year's trip which had included five month's planning for a cross country tour which was to include the entire western migration of America. On that occasion, limited time proved to be my undoing for I had to make a choice: Did I want to ride to get cross country or did I want to ride to see history? History won and the tour went uncompleted. What I did manage to accomplish was to see more history than I imagined possible. I also learned a unique if unwise lesson about touring. It is frequently better to rely on the local people than preplanned mapping, for places to see, and shorter more scenic routes to take. There knowledge of the local environment is better than any that a road map can convey.

In an effort to cure my depression over the curtailment of the summer's riding activities I have decided to use my limited time to accomplish these goals on a much shorter sortie. First to see as much American history as possible thus enriching my teaching of that subject. Second, it must help give me a better understanding of what makes this country function. Next, it must get me far away from congested areas, so I can clear my brain of its overcrowded state. Last and certainly not least, it must allow me to meet people, so that I can expand my ability to relate to my fellow man.

Maybe my criteria sounds a little bit philosphical but every rider who tours, does so for a particular reason. For me, besides accomplishing certain goals, it is a sanity measure. City-life and I are not always compatible, so in the country I must go to regain a certain touch of this country than from the seat of a bicycle. My first trip showed me the difference between screeching car brakes as their owners tried to stop and look at worthwhile sights and the leisurely pace of seeing all as one pedaled along at a slower pace able to see all there was to observe.
There is a certain unique ability for me to understand what I am teaching when I see things up close. The most reassuring part of travelling however is the people with whom you come in contact. I have never felt any hostility towards me on any of my trips. This may be because people sense in a touring cyclist, an essentially harmless person. After ten months living in New York or possibly any city, it is nice to be able to experience that feeling again of the trust people have for one another. The consideration I have experienced from total strangers is almost impossible to recount. Never in any of the fourteen states and three Canadian provinces I have ridden through have I been unable to find a friendly smile or a helping hand.

So when all of the touring for history, enjoying a scenery and experiencing America is over, the thing that remains is that intangible joy left to me by those many strangers. Although I shall probably never see or hear from any of these people again, all of them in their own way have touched me.

Why do I have this need to ride? It is very simple, I need that intangible to go on with my life. The knowledge and reassurance that people all over care about people. I am aware that there are other ways of obtaining this peace of mind, but for me it comes when I ride my bicycle.

Where will I go? I am not sure right now. I do know however, that by the time school starts in September I will be back in touch with myself and ready for another year of teaching.
